Read-Aloud Guide

Best for: Ages 3–6

Read-aloud: 5–8 min.

Theme: trying something new, mixed feelings, tiny steps, stopping when needed, and choosing the size of a challenge.

Approach: Let the story lead. Pause for body clues, choices, and small moments of agency rather than turning the reading into a lesson.

Before reading

- Can you want to try something and also not want to try it?
- Does trying have to mean doing the whole thing?
- What could a tiny first step look like?

During reading

- When Yok wants to try and not try: How can both feelings be true at the same time?
- When Tibo practices only the bottom: What does Yok learn about what counts as trying?
- When Yok says Down: Why is stopping part of a successful try?
- When Yok stops at the blue hold: Who gets to decide what is enough for today?

After reading

1. Look at one new thing.
2. Touch or try one tiny part.
3. Try a little more only if you want to.
4. Practice saying: That is enough for today.

Parent Conversation Card

Ask gently

1. Why did the climbing wall look much bigger to Yok than to her friends?
2. How did Tibo change Yok's idea of what trying means?
3. Why was climbing back down a useful skill?
4. What does it mean to find your own size of new?

Grown-up note: Trying something new does not have to mean completing it. Looking, touching, watching, trying one step, stopping, and returning later are all valid forms of participation.

Tiny everyday habit: Choose one phrase or strategy from the story and practice it once during a calm moment this week. It is easier to use a skill under stress after it has been rehearsed when things are going well.

Practice Cards

Cut out the cards. Children may say, point, act, or match the phrase.

JUST LOOK

Looking counts.

TOUCH IT

A tiny step counts.

TRY ONE PART

Make the challenge smaller.

DOWN, PLEASE

Stopping is allowed.

THAT'S ENOUGH TODAY

Choose your limit.

I CAN TRY AGAIN LATER

Returning is an option.

MIXED FEELINGS

Wanting and worrying can coexist.

TINY COUNTS

Small attempts are real attempts.

MY SIZE OF NEW

Choose the challenge size.

Adult tip: Trying something new does not have to mean completing it. Looking, touching, watching, trying one step, stopping, and returning later are all valid forms of participation.

Tiny Steps Certificate

This certificate is awarded to

for finding your own size of new and taking one brave step without pressure to finish.

- ☐ I looked at something new. ☐ I tried one tiny part.
- ☐ I stopped when I needed to.
- ☐ I chose whether to try more.

Coloring Page

Color Yok taking one tiny step on the climbing wall while her friends support her without pushing.

Trying still counts even when you stop before the top.

Four Printable Bookmarks

Cut along the lines. Optional: print on cardstock.

Tiny counts.

Yok's Little Try

Children may draw, point, act, or answer aloud.

1. Look

Stand near one new thing and simply look.

2. Touch

Touch one safe part if you want to.

3. Try

Try one tiny piece of the activity.

4. Choose

Continue, stop, or come back later.

Can you find?

- ☐ Tom's imaginary volcano
- ☐ the red hold
- ☐ Tibo on two holds

- ☐ Yok's wrapped tail
- ☐ the blue hold
- ☐ the snack

Trying still counts even when you stop before the top.
